

SPACE

Space is the arena of all life's interactions. It is the common denominator of Mathematics, Art, and Nature. Thinking about space requires the ability to reason abstractly because the "nothingness" of space is everywhere and yet nowhere is it visible. It is intangible, but we must give it tangibility in order to examine it.

Space is easiest to comprehend when we consider the forms that are placed within it.